1

When we first met we would talk of our younger years,
“Those were the times,” is what you would say.
But for me it was only just beginning , and I said,
“Darling, these days are my good old days.”
Now as I walk in the bright summer sunlight,
I remember how you used to walk with me,
We were so in love and we sure had such good times,
But we cannot hold on to them endlessly.

Chorus:

It's the end of a sparkling season, it's the end of a time I will never forget,
When I held you and thought, “this will last forever,”
But the seasons must change, it's the end of an age,
And it's the bright beginning of a brand new day.

I don't believe that we could ever be strangers,
You have touched my soul for a million years,
So just call out my name in the time of danger,
And I'll be there beside you to calm all your deepest fears.
Now we could shed all our tears and our sorrow,
Or face our future in a different way.
Who was it said, “there is something lost,
And there is something gained in living everyday” ?

Chorus
